

Aššur and Nineveh

Churches, synagogues, and mosques are but segments of a society and their leaders represent solely their own sectarian institutions. Thus, a certain patriarch, rabbi, or mufti (imam) does not represent a nation and does not have the right to speak on behalf of that nation. First, consider that patriarchs, rabbis, and Muftis are selected personalities - whether by a group of bishops, a government, or a council. Second, these leaders are not elected by the people. Therefore, patriarchs, rabbis, or muftis must not act as representatives of a nation or negotiate on behalf of a nation, unless the population of that nation consists 100% of a certain and specific creed, sect, or religion.

I will not tell Jews or Muslims what to do or how to think, but since I am a Christian I am entitled to express my opinion about my own religion.

The biggest conspiracy committed against the Christians was attaching the Torah (later known as the Old Testament) to the New Testament and creating the present Bible. By doing so, the conspirators planned to hold the Christian world hostage to the Jewish nation, and were successful. Assyrians soon forgot their own religion and the ancient god Aššur and other deities and began to pray to and glorify the Jewish Fathers.

Aššur is our mighty true god,
for He is Shoraya or the beginning,
and the personification of Monotheism,
remember Him.

Nineveh is our daughter,
we cannot leave her an orphan,
if you must go to church for your spiritual needs, do it by all means,
but as you leave the church, you must take off your church clothes and put on Nineveh's robe.
